Submit as a Word/Pages document or PDF

Even though it's early in the course, you should start thinking about your final project. Please submit your initial project idea here. I want to get a sense of your projects as well as how best to guide you. You will be revising this project idea in a subsequent homework that will be due in about a week, so don't worry if you're still forming your idea! This assignment will be graded base on completion only, so don't be afraid to submit whatever you have.

If it's helpful, you can use this project idea or a related idea to complete your introductory modules where applicable, including the portions on science communication and publication methods.

You may also find it useful to look at past project topics. May of last year's student projects can be found at <https://cepc-0904.jackhester.com/final-projects.html>.

Since this is your first homework assignment, please remember to refer to the formatting guidelines on the syllabus.
